Media Release

For immediate release

Skyrocketing into the Melbourne creative media industry are a crack team of digital assassins, currently wiping up digital artwork for some of the hottest recording artists...

'The artists formally known as Vince' is a student-based digital media collaboration group focused on video, design and animation. 'Vince' offers media students the chance to obtain professional work experience with projects ranging from music video clips to art installments, poster design to Television advertisements.

Although Vince comprises of emerging designers, its members are already achieving great things. Established at RMIT University, the team are about to commence working on an animated music video for up-and-coming Melbourne songbird Georgia Fields. Other notable Vince works can be found at select installations around Melbourne, such as the State Library of Victoria. Vince's animated video clip for Melbourne music duo Princess One Point Five have also been screened around Melbourne.

'The artists formerly known as Vince', are currently seeking opportunities for sponsorship of the Vince production team
